VI. Lesson Proper

A. Starting an Everyday Conversation

A conversation usually begins with a greeting or a question about another person's condition or activities.

Examples:

- Kumusta an imo adlaw? – How was your day?
- Kumusta ka yana? – How are you today?
- Ano an imo ginbubuhat? – What are you doing?

Possible responses:

- Maupay man an akon adlaw. – My day is good too.
- Maopay man ako. – I am doing well.
- Nag-aadal ako. – I am studying.

A good conversation does not end with a single answer. You can ask another question or share related information to keep the conversation going.

B. Talking About Daily Routines

When describing daily activities, learners can use familiar action words and time expressions.

Examples:

- Nakamata ako hin temprano. – I woke up early.
- Nag-aadal ako kada adlaw. – I study every day.
- Nagluluto hi Nanay ha aga. – Mother cooks in the morning.
- Nagpapahuway ako katapos han akon buruhaton. – I rest after my activities.

Time expressions such as kada adlaw, ha aga, and ha gab-i help explain when an activity happens.

C. Asking Whether Someone Has Done Something

You can ask about an activity someone has already completed.

Examples:

- Kinaon ka na? – Have you eaten?
- Nakadto ka na ha eskwelahan? – Have you gone to school?
- Nahuman mo na an imo buruhaton? – Have you finished your task?

Possible responses:

- Oo, kinaon na ako. – Yes, I have already eaten.
- Waray pa ako makadto. – I have not gone yet.
- Oo, nahuman ko na. – Yes, I have finished.

D. Making Invitations and Suggestions

You can invite someone to join an activity or suggest doing something together.

Examples:

- Mangaon na kita. – Let's eat.
- Mag-upod kita. – Let's go together.
- Karuyag mo ba umupod ha akon? – Would you like to come with me?
- Kadto kita ha merkado. – Let's go to the market.

Possible responses:

- Sige, maupod ako. – Okay, I will come along.
- Pasayloa ako, busy ako yana. – Sorry, I am busy right now.
- Bangin ha urhi. – Maybe later.

E. Responding Naturally in Conversations

People use short expressions to show that they are listening, agreeing, or asking for clarification.

Examples:

- Tinuod? – Really?
- Maupay ito. – That's good.
- Husto ito. – That's right.
- Nasasabtan ko. – I understand.
- Diri ko nasasabtan. – I don't understand.
- Pakiusara, utraha daw. – Please repeat that.

Using these expressions makes conversations more interactive and helps learners respond appropriately.

When asking about the location of a place, you can use hain or diin, depending on the sentence and local usage.

Examples:

- Hain an eskwelahan? – Where is the school?
- Hain an merkado? – Where is the market?
- Hain an ospital? – Where is the hospital?
- Diin an imo balay? – Where is your house?

You can also mention your destination when asking someone for directions.

- Liko ha wala. – Turn left.
- Tabok ha dalan. – Cross the road.
- Kadto ha atubangan han eskwelahan. – Go to the front of the school.

You can combine these expressions to provide more detailed directions.

Example:

You can use distance-related words to tell someone whether a destination is near or far.

Examples:

- Hirani la an merkado. – The market is just nearby.
- Hirayo an ospital. – The hospital is far.
- Hirani ito ha eskwelahan. – It is near the school.
- Diri ito hirayo tikang dinhi. – It is not far from here.

These expressions are useful when someone asks whether a place can be reached by walking or needs transportation.

E. Asking for Help When Lost

When you do not know where to go, you can politely ask another person for assistance.

Examples:

- Pasayloa ako, nalilito ako ha dalan. – Excuse me, I am confused about the way.
- Alayon, buligi ako pamiling han ospital. – Please help me find the hospital.
- Diri ako maaram kon diin ako makadto. – I do not know where to go.

VI. Lesson Proper

A. Asking for General Information

When you need information about something, begin with a clear question.

Examples:

- Ano ini? – What is this?
- Ano an kahulogan hini? – What does this mean?
- Diin ako makakakuha hin impormasyon? – Where can I get information?
- May pakiana ako. – I have a question.

You can use these expressions when speaking with teachers, classmates, employees, or other people who can provide the information you need.

B. Asking for Specific Details

Sometimes a general answer is not enough. You may need to ask additional questions to obtain more specific details.

Examples:

- Ano nga klase hin dokumento an kinahanglan? – What kind of document is needed?
- Pira an bayad? – How much is the payment?
- San-o an petsa han programa? – When is the date of the program?
- Hin-o an magtututdo han klase? – Who will teach the class?

Follow-up questions help make sure that the information you receive is complete.

C. Requesting Clarification

When you do not understand a statement, you can politely ask the speaker to repeat or explain it.

Examples:

- Diri ko nasasabtan. – I don't understand.
- Mahimo mo ba utrahon ito? – Can you repeat that?
- Mahimo mo ba ini igsaysay? – Can you explain this?
- Ano an karuyag mo sidngon? – What do you mean?

When asking for clarification, speak politely and give the other person enough time to explain.

D. Explaining Reasons

When someone asks why something happened, you can provide a reason using kay (because).

Examples:

- Kay may klase ako. – Because I have a class.
- Kay hirayo an amon balay. – Because our house is far.
- Kay kinahanglan ko mag-adal. – Because I need to study.

You can also ask:

Kay ano nga waray ka kumadto?

Why didn't you go?

E. Giving Complete Answers

An effective response should answer the question directly and provide relevant details when necessary.

Example:

Question: San-o an iyo programa?

When is your program?

Short answer: Buwas.

Tomorrow.

More complete answer: Buwas ha alas-nuwebe han aga an amon programa.

Our program is tomorrow at nine in the morning.

Another example:

Question: Diin ako makakakuha hin impormasyon?

Where can I get information?

Answer: Makakakuha ka hin impormasyon ha opisina han eskwelahan.

You can get information at the school office.

LESSON 14 – PRONOUNS AND COMMON VERBS

Level: Intermediate
Unit: Grammar and Sentence Construction
Estimated Duration: 35–45 minutes
Prerequisite: Lessons 1–13

I. Learning Objectives

At the end of this lesson, learners should be able to:

1. Identify common personal pronouns in Waray.
2. Recognize commonly used verbs in everyday communication.
3. Understand how pronouns and verbs work together in simple Waray sentences.
4. Construct basic sentences using appropriate pronouns and verbs.
5. Understand and respond to short conversations involving everyday activities.

II. Lesson Introduction

Pronouns are words used in place of people's names or nouns. They help speakers avoid repeating names and make conversations more natural.

Verbs express actions, activities, or states. Examples include eating, reading, studying, walking, and working.

In Waray, pronouns and verbs are important for constructing sentences and communicating everyday activities.

For example:

- Ako an nagbabasa. – I am the one reading.
- Nag-aadál ako. – I am studying.
- Nagluluto hiya. – He/She is cooking.

The placement of pronouns and the form of verbs can vary depending on the sentence structure and the intended meaning. This lesson introduces useful examples rather than treating one sentence pattern as universal.

III. Personal Pronouns

Personal pronouns refer to the speaker, the person being spoken to, or the person being discussed.

A. Basic Personal Pronouns

English	Waray	Pronunciation Guide
I	Ako	A-ko
You (singular)	Ikaw / Ka	I-kaw / Ka
He / She	Hiya	Hi-ya
We (excluding the listener)	Kami	Ka-mi
We (including the listener)	Kita	Ki-ta
You (plural)	Kamo	Ka-mo
They	Hira	Hi-ra

Important distinction:

- Kami refers to the speaker and other people, but excludes the listener.
- Kita includes both the speaker and the listener.

B. Demonstrative Pronouns

English	Waray	Pronunciation Guide
This	Ini	I-ni
That	Ito	I-to
These	Ini nga mga	I-ni nga ma-nga
Those	Ito nga mga	I-to nga ma-nga

These forms are useful when identifying or referring to people and objects. Their exact use may depend on context.

C. Possessive Forms

English	Waray	Pronunciation Guide
My / Mine	Akon	A-kon
Your / Yours	Imo	I-mo

His / Hers	Iya	I-ya
Our (excluding listener)	Amon	A-mon
Our (including listener)	Aton	A-ton
Their / Theirs	Ira	I-ra

Examples:

- Akon ini. – This is mine.
- Imo ito. – That is yours.
- Iya an libro. – The book is his/hers.

IV. Common Verbs

Verbs describe actions or activities. The following are useful verbs for everyday conversations.

A. Everyday Actions

English	Waray	Pronunciation Guide
Eat	Kumaon	Ku-ma-on
Drink	Uminom	U-mi-nom
Read	Magbasa	Mag-ba-sa
Write	Magsurat	Mag-su-rat
Study	Mag-adal	Mag-a-dal
Cook	Magluto	Mag-lu-to
Work	Magtrabaho	Mag-tra-ba-ho
Clean	Maglimpyo	Mag-lim-pyo
Walk	Maglakat	Mag-la-kat
Play	Mag-uyag	Mag-u-yag
Sleep	Maturog	Ma-tu-rog
Rest	Pahuway	Pa-hu-way
Return home	Umuli	U-mu-li

Help	Bulig	Bu-lig

B. Common Descriptive and Activity Words

English	Waray	Pronunciation Guide
Know	Maaram	Ma-a-ram
Understand	Sabot	Sa-bot
Want	Karuyag	Ka-ru-yag
Like / Love	Hinigugma / Hinigugmaon (context-dependent)	Hi-ni-gug-ma
Need	Kinahanglan	Ki-nang-ha-lan
Speak / Talk	Magyakan	Mag-ya-kan
Listen	Pamati	Pa-ma-ti
Watch / Look	Kita	Ki-ta

Note: Some entries above are root words or dictionary forms rather than ready-to-use verbs in every sentence. For example, bulig means help, while a complete expression may require a different grammatical construction.

V. Verb Forms in Everyday Sentences

Waray verbs may change form depending on the action, time, aspect, and sentence construction. A verb's form should not be selected by simply adding the same prefix to every root word.

The following examples introduce common expressions:

English	Waray	Pronunciation Guide
I am studying.	Nag-aadal ako.	Nag-a-a-dal a-ko
I am reading.	Nagbabasa ako.	Nag-ba-ba-sa a-ko
I am writing.	Nagsusurat ako.	Nag-su-su-rat a-ko
He/She is cooking.	Nagluluto hiya.	Nag-lu-lu-to hi-ya
We are eating.	Nangaon kita.	Nang-a-on ki-ta
They are working.	Nagtatrabaho hira.	Nag-tra-tra-ba-ho hi-ra

A. Observe the Sentence

Consider:

Nagbabasa ako hin libro.
I am reading a book.

- Nagbabasa – reading
- Ako – I
- Hin libro – a book

The sentence tells us who is performing the action and what the person is reading.

B. Change the Subject

Compare these examples:

- Nagbabasa ako. – I am reading.
- Nagbabasa hiya. – He/She is reading.
- Nagbabasa hira. – They are reading.

The subject changes while the action remains the same in these examples.

VI. Constructing Sentences with Pronouns and Verbs

Use the following examples to practice combining pronouns and verbs.

English	Waray
I am studying.	Nag-aadal ako.
You are reading.	Nagbabasa ka.
He/She is writing.	Nagsusurat hiya.
We are cooking.	Nagluluto kami.
We are eating together.	Nangaon kita.
You are working.	Nagtatrabaho kamo.
They are playing.	Nag-uuyag hira.

A. Sentence Pattern Practice

A useful introductory pattern is:

Action or verb expression + subject

Examples:

- Nagbabasa + ako
- Nagluluto + hiya
- Nagtatrabaho + hira

This is a practice pattern, not a rule that applies to every Waray sentence. Other sentence structures may place emphasis on different parts of the sentence.

B. Negative Sentences

The word diri is commonly used to express negation.

Examples:

- Diri ako nagbabasa. – I am not reading.
- Diri hiya nagluluto. – He/She is not cooking.
- Diri kami nag-uuyag. – We are not playing.

C. Expressing Wants

The word karuyag can be used to express wanting or wishing.

Examples:

- Karuyag ko kumaon. – I want to eat.

2. Recognize common sentence patterns used in everyday communication.
3. Construct simple affirmative and negative sentences.
4. Form basic questions using common Waray question words.
5. Translate simple English sentences into understandable Waray.

II. Lesson Introduction

A sentence is a group of words that expresses a complete thought. It usually communicates an action, condition, description, or question.

In Waray, sentences can be arranged in different ways depending on what the speaker wants to emphasize. Some sentences begin with an action or description, while others begin with the person or thing being discussed.

For example:

- Nagbabasa ako hin libro. – I am reading a book.
- Maestra hiya. – He/She is a teacher.
- Diri ako gutom. – I am not hungry.
- Hain an imo libro? – Where is your book?

Understanding sentence structure helps learners communicate more clearly and naturally.

III. Parts of a Sentence

A basic sentence can contain a subject, a predicate, and sometimes an object or additional information.

A. Subject

The subject identifies the person, animal, place, or thing being discussed.

Examples:

English	Waray
I	Ako
You	Ikaw / Ka
He / She	Hiya
The child	An bata
The teacher	An maestra
The student	An estudyante

B. Predicate

The predicate tells something about the subject. It may describe an action, condition, or identity.

Examples:

English	Waray
is reading	nagbabasa
is cooking	nagluluto

is studying	nag-aadal
is happy	malipayon
is a teacher	maestra

C. Object

The object identifies the person or thing involved in the action.

Examples:

English	Waray
a book	hin libro
food	pagkaon
water	tubig
a letter	surat
a story	istorya

Example sentence:

Nagbabasa ako hin libro.
I am reading a book.

- Nagbabasa – action
- Ako – person performing the action

- Hin libro – object or thing being read

IV. Basic Sentence Patterns

Waray sentence construction does not always follow one fixed word order. The following are useful introductory patterns.

This pattern is commonly seen in sentences that begin with an action or verb expression.

Waray	English
Nagbabasa ako.	I am reading.
Nagluluto hiya.	He/She is cooking.
Nag-aadal kami.	We are studying.
Nag-uuyag hira.	They are playing.

B. Description + Subject

Gutom hiya.	He/She is hungry.

Matahom an lugar.	The place is beautiful.
Dako an balay.	The house is big.

Waray	English

Maestra hiya.	He/She is a teacher.
Doktor hiya.	He/She is a doctor.

Nag-aadal hiya ha eskwelahan.	He/She is studying at school.

Nagluluto hi Nanay ha kusina.	Mother is cooking in the kitchen.

LESSON 16 – CONSTRUCTING MORE COMPLEX SENTENCES

Level: Intermediate
Unit: Grammar and Sentence Construction

For example:

Simple sentences:

- Nag-aadal ako. – I am studying.
- May eksam kami buwas. – We have an exam tomorrow.

Combined idea:

Nag-aadal ako kay may eksam kami buwas.
I am studying because we have an exam tomorrow.

By connecting ideas, learners can communicate more naturally and provide additional information.

Important Expression Patterns

1. Asking about prices

Use Pira ini? or Pira an presyo hini? when asking how much an item costs.

Examples:

- Pira ini? – How much is this?
- Pira an presyo hini nga bado? – How much is this shirt?

2. Expressing preferences

Use Karuyag ko... to express what you want.

Examples:

- Karuyag ko ini. – I want this.
- Karuyag ko paliton ini. – I want to buy this.
- Karuyag ko hin duha. – I want two.

3. Asking about available choices

Use May... pa kamo? to ask whether the seller has more options or additional items.

Examples:

- May iba pa kamo? – Do you have another one?
- May iba pa kamo nga kolor? – Do you have other colors?

4. Describing prices

Use these expressions when comparing prices:

- Barato ini. – This is inexpensive.
- Mahal ini. – This is expensive.

VI. LESSON PROPER

A. Asking About Prices

One of the most important things to know when shopping is how to ask about prices.

You can use:

- Pira ini?
- Pira an presyo hini?

The word pira is used when asking about quantity or amount. In shopping conversations, it is commonly used to ask how much something costs.

Examples:

Waray	English
Pira ini nga libro?	How much is this book?
Pira an presyo hini nga sapatos?	How much are these shoes?
Pira an usa ka kilo nga bugas?	How much is one kilo of rice?

B. Expressing What You Want to Buy

Use Karuyag ko when expressing what you want.

Examples:

- Karuyag ko ini. – I want this.
- Karuyag ko paliton ini. – I want to buy this.
- Karuyag ko hin bag-o nga sapatos. – I want new shoes.

You may also mention the quantity of the items you want.

Examples:

- Usa an akon paliton. – I will buy one.
- Duha an akon paliton. – I will buy two.
- Usa ka kilo an akon paliton. – I will buy one kilo.

C. Asking About Sizes and Colors

When buying clothes, shoes, or other products, you may need to ask about available sizes and colors.

Useful expressions include:

Waray	English
May iba pa kamo nga kolor?	Do you have other colors?
May mas dako pa hini?	Is there a bigger one?
May mas gutiay pa hini?	Is there a smaller one?
May iba pa kamo nga sugad hini?	Do you have another one like this?

You can also describe what you prefer:

- Karuyag ko hin pula. – I want a red one.
- Karuyag ko hin mas dako. – I want a bigger one.
- Karuyag ko hin gutiay. – I want a small one.

D. Comparing Prices and Products

Sometimes, buyers compare products before deciding what to purchase.

You can use the following expressions:

Waray	English
Mahal ini.	This is expensive.
Barato ini.	This is inexpensive.
Mas mahal ini.	This is more expensive.
Mas barato ito.	That is less expensive.
Bag-o ini.	This is new.
Daan ito.	That is old.
Dako ini.	This is big.
Gutiay ito.	That is small.

Remember that comparing products does not only involve their prices. Buyers may also consider their size, quality, appearance, and usefulness.

E. Completing a Purchase

After choosing a product, you need to communicate your decision and pay the seller.

Useful expressions:

- Karuyag ko ini. – I want this.
- Paliton ko ini. – I will buy this.
- Ini an akon bayad. – This is my payment.
- Ihatag ha akon an sukli, alayon. – Please give me my change.

- Salamat. – Thank you.

A simple shopping conversation usually follows this order:

1. Greet the seller.
2. Ask about the product.
3. Ask about its price.
4. Choose the item.
5. Tell the seller how many you want.
6. Pay for the purchase.
7. Receive your change, if applicable.
8. Thank the seller.

XI. FACIAL EXPRESSION RECOGNITION INTEGRATION

Activity: Interactive Shopping Scenario

The application may present a simulated shopping situation in which learners select products, answer questions, and interact with a virtual seller.

If the learner chooses to enable the camera, the application may use facial-expression recognition to demonstrate how facial movements can be detected during the activity.

Suggested Implementation:

1. Present a virtual shopping scenario.
2. Allow the learner to select an item and answer a seller's questions.
3. Offer an optional camera-based facial-expression activity.

Important Considerations:

- Camera access must be optional.

- Learners must be able to complete the lesson without enabling the camera.
- Facial-expression results must not determine correctness, grades, XP, badges, or lesson completion.
- The application must not claim that a detected expression proves a learner's emotion, interest, or understanding.
