VI. LESSON PROPER

A. Expressing Personal Opinions

An opinion is a personal belief or viewpoint about a particular subject. When expressing an opinion, you communicate what you think rather than simply stating an objective fact.

A useful expression is Para ha akon, which means "In my opinion."

Examples:

Waray	English
Para ha akon, maupay ini.	In my opinion, this is good.
Para ha akon, importante an edukasyon.	In my opinion, education is important.
Para ha akon, makuri ini nga buruhaton.	In my opinion, this activity is difficult.
Para ha akon, mas maupay an pagbasa hin libro.	In my opinion, reading books is better.

You may also use Natoo ako nga... when expressing a belief.

Example:

Natoo ako nga importante an pag-aram hin mga yinaknan.

I believe that learning languages is important.

B. Expressing Feelings

Feelings communicate how you personally react to an experience or situation.

In Waray, you can use expressions such as Nalilipay ako, Nasusubo ako, and Nasisina ako to describe different emotional experiences.

Examples:

Waray	English
Nalilipay ako ha akon pamilya.	I am happy with my family.
Nasusubo ako tungod han nahitabo.	I am sad because of what happened.
Nasisina ako tungod han problema.	I am angry because of the problem.
Nababababaraka ako ha akon eksam.	I am worried about my examination.
Nahahadlok ako ha makusog nga bagyo.	I am afraid of the strong storm.
Nalilipay ako nga nakabulig ako.	I am happy that I was able to help.

Feelings can also change depending on the situation. Learners should practice explaining not only what they feel but also why they feel that way.

C. Agreeing and Disagreeing Politely

During conversations, people may have different opinions. It is important to communicate agreement or disagreement respectfully.

Useful expressions include:

- Nauyon ako. – I agree.
- Diri ako nauyon. – I disagree.
- Nasasabtan ko an imo opinyon. – I understand your opinion.
- Iba an akon opinyon. – I have a different opinion.

Examples:

Waray	English
Nauyon ako ha imo.	I agree with you.
Diri ako nauyon hito nga ideya.	I disagree with that idea.
Nasasabtan ko an imo punto.	I understand your point.
Iba an akon paghunahuna mahitungod hini.	I think differently about this.

When disagreeing, learners should avoid using expressions that sound unnecessarily harsh. A respectful response can acknowledge the other person's viewpoint before explaining a different opinion.

D. Explaining the Reasons Behind Your Opinions

Giving reasons makes an opinion clearer and more meaningful.

The expressions kay and tungod kay can introduce a reason.

Examples:

Waray	English
Karuyag ko magbasa kay makalilipay ini.	I like reading because it is enjoyable.
Importante an edukasyon tungod kay nakakabulig ini ha kabubuwason.	Education is important because it helps with the future.
Nalilipay ako tungod kay nakaupod ko an akon pamilya.	I am happy because I spent time with my family.
Makuri ini kay damo an kinahanglan buhaton.	This is difficult because there are many things to do.

A useful sentence pattern is:

Opinion + Reason

Example:

Para ha akon, importante an pag-adal hin Waray tungod kay bahin ini han aton kultura.

In my opinion, learning Waray is important because it is part of our culture.

E. Combining Opinions and Feelings in Conversations

In longer conversations, people often express an opinion, describe a feeling, and explain their reasons.

Example:

Para ha akon, makalilipay an pag-adal hin bag-o nga yinaknan. Nalilipay ako kon may bag-o ako nga nahibabaroan tungod kay nakakabulig ini ha akon pakigkomunikar ha iba nga tawo.

In my opinion, learning a new language is enjoyable. I feel happy when I learn something new because it helps me communicate with other people.

Learners should practice combining these expressions to produce more complete and meaningful responses.

ADVANCED LEVEL

UNIT 1: ADVANCED COMMUNICATION

LESSON 22: GIVING EXPLANATIONS AND REASONS

Estimated Duration: 45–60 minutes
Prerequisite: Lesson 21 – Expressing Opinions and Feelings
Language Focus: Explaining situations, expressing causes and effects, providing reasons, giving examples, and clarifying information.

I. LESSON INFORMATION

In everyday communication, people often need to explain why something happened, provide reasons for their decisions, or clarify information when someone does not understand.

Being able to give clear explanations helps learners communicate more effectively in conversations, discussions, school activities, and everyday situations.

In this lesson, learners will practice using Waray expressions to explain causes, describe results, provide examples, and clarify their statements. They will also learn how to organize their explanations into complete and understandable responses.

II. LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of this lesson, learners should be able to:

1. Identify common Waray expressions used to explain reasons and situations.
2. Explain the causes of everyday events and circumstances.
3. Describe the results or consequences of particular actions.
4. Provide examples and supporting details when explaining an idea.
5. Clarify information and respond to requests for explanations.
6. Construct connected sentences that communicate reasons and explanations clearly.

III. LESSON INTRODUCTION

Imagine that your teacher asks why you were unable to attend class, or a friend asks why you prefer studying at home.

A short answer may not always provide enough information. You may need to explain the situation, give a reason, and describe what happened as a result.

For example:

- Waray ako nakaeskwela kay masakit ako. – I could not attend school because I was sick.
- Nag-uran, salit nabasa an dalan. – It rained, so the road became wet.
- Kinahanglan kita mag-aram kay importante an edukasyon. – We need to study because education is important.
- Pananglitan, mahimo kita magbasa hin libro. – For example, we can read a book.

These expressions help learners provide more complete answers rather than relying only on short statements.

ADVANCED LEVEL

UNIT 1: ADVANCED COMMUNICATION

LESSON 23: AGREEING AND DISAGREEING

Estimated Duration: 45–60 minutes
Prerequisite: Lesson 22 – Giving Explanations and Reasons
Language Focus: Expressing agreement, disagreement, opinions, preferences, and respectful responses during conversations and discussions.

I. LESSON INFORMATION

In everyday conversations, people have different opinions, preferences, and beliefs. Sometimes, we agree with what another person says. At other times, we may have a different point of view.

Learning how to agree and disagree respectfully is an important communication skill. It allows people to participate in discussions, explain their opinions, and consider different perspectives without creating unnecessary conflict.

In this lesson, learners will practice Waray expressions for showing agreement, expressing disagreement, asking for clarification, and supporting their opinions with reasons.

II. LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of this lesson, learners should be able to:

1. Identify common Waray expressions used to agree or disagree.
2. Express agreement with another person's statement or opinion.
3. Politely communicate a different opinion.
4. Provide reasons to support their agreement or disagreement.
5. Respond appropriately to different viewpoints during conversations.
6. Participate in short discussions using appropriate Waray expressions.

III. LESSON INTRODUCTION

Imagine that your classmates are discussing whether students should have more time for extracurricular activities.

One student might say:

Para ha akon, importante an mga buruhaton ha eskwelahan.
For me, school activities are important.

Another student may agree:

Nauyon ako ha imo.
I agree with you.

However, someone else may have a different opinion:

Diri ako bug-os nga nauyon ha imo.
I do not completely agree with you.

Both responses are acceptable ways to participate in a discussion. The important thing is to express your thoughts clearly and respectfully.

In this lesson, you will learn how to communicate these responses naturally in Waray.

Nauyon ako hito nga ideya.	I agree with that idea.

B: Nauyon ako ha imo kay nakakabulig ito ha pakigkomunikar.
I agree with you because it helps with communication.

B. Expressing Disagreement

Examples:

Waray	English
Diri ako nauyon hito.	I do not agree with that.
Iba an akon panhunahuna.	I have a different opinion.
Diri ako bug-os nga nauyon.	I do not completely agree.
Para ha akon, may iba pa nga paagi.	In my opinion, there is another way.

When disagreeing, it is helpful to explain your reason instead of simply rejecting another person's opinion.

Example:

I disagree because we also need to consider other possibilities.

C. Disagreeing Respectfully

People may have different opinions, but disagreement does not need to become an argument.

I understand your point, but I prefer a combination of online and face-to-face classes.

D. Supporting Your Opinion with Reasons

A strong opinion is easier to understand when it includes a reason or example.

You can use expressions from the previous lesson, such as kay, tungod kay, and pananglitan.

Examples:

1. Nauyon ako kay nakakabulig ito ha mga estudyante.
   I agree because it helps students.
2. Diri ako nauyon tungod kay may iba pa nga kinahanglan tagdon.
   I disagree because there are other things that need to be considered.

   In my opinion, practice is important. For example, we can have conversations every day.

E. Participating in a Discussion

During a discussion, learners should know how to:

1. Listen to another person's opinion.
2. Identify whether they agree or disagree.
3. Express their response respectfully.
4. Explain their reason.
5. Allow others to share their viewpoints.

A simple discussion pattern is:

Opinion → Agreement or Disagreement → Reason → Example

Example:

Opinion: Importante an paggamit hin teknolohiya ha pag-aram.
Using technology in learning is important.

I agree with that.

Reason: Kay nakakabulig ito ha pagkuha hin impormasyon.

- Facial-expression recognition must not determine whether a learner genuinely agrees, disagrees, or feels confident.
- Facial-expression results must not affect assessment scores, XP, badges, or lesson completion.
- Language performance should be evaluated separately using appropriate language-learning criteria.

XII. LESSON COMPLETION AND EXPECTED OUTCOME

Lesson Completion Checklist

Before proceeding to the next lesson, learners should be able to:

- Recognize common expressions of agreement.
- Recognize common expressions of disagreement.
- Express agreement with another person's opinion.
- Politely communicate a different viewpoint.
- Provide reasons to support their opinions.
- Participate in short discussions using Waray.
- Achieve at least 70% in the lesson assessment.

Expected Learning Outcome

After completing this lesson, learners should be able to participate in simple discussions and communicate their opinions using appropriate Waray expressions. They should also demonstrate the ability to agree or disagree respectfully, explain their reasoning, and respond appropriately to different viewpoints.

ADVANCED LEVEL

UNIT 2: LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT

LESSON 24: ADVANCED SENTENCE CONSTRUCTION

Estimated Duration: 50–60 minutes
Prerequisite: Lesson 23 – Agreeing and Disagreeing
Language Focus: Constructing longer sentences, combining related ideas, using descriptive expressions, expressing conditions, and organizing complex thoughts.

I. LESSON INFORMATION

As learners advance in their language studies, they need to move beyond short and simple sentences. They should be able to express more detailed thoughts, describe situations, explain relationships between ideas, and communicate information in a logical manner.

In this lesson, learners will practice constructing longer Waray sentences by combining ideas, adding descriptions, expressing conditions, and providing additional information. They will also learn how to use connecting expressions to make their statements more complete and understandable.

II. LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of this lesson, learners should be able to:

1. Identify common expressions used to connect ideas in Waray sentences.
2. Construct longer sentences by combining related thoughts.
3. Add descriptive details about people, places, objects, and situations.
4. Express conditions, contrasts, and additional information.
5. Organize multiple ideas into coherent paragraphs.
6. Produce more detailed written and spoken responses using Waray.

III. LESSON INTRODUCTION

Consider the difference between these two sentences:

Simple sentence:

Nagaadál ako.
I am studying.

Expanded sentence:

Nag-aadal ako ha balay kada gab-i kay karuyag ko nga magin andam para ha akon eksam.
I study at home every evening because I want to be prepared for my examination.

The second sentence communicates more information. It tells us where the person studies, when the activity happens, and why the person studies.

Advanced sentence construction allows learners to express more complete thoughts by adding information and connecting related ideas.

In this lesson, you will practice building sentences that communicate more than one piece of information.

In addition to studying, I help my family.	Dugang pa ha pag-aram, nabulig ako ha akon pamilya.

VI. LESSON PROPER

A. Combining Two or More Ideas

A sentence can communicate several related ideas when appropriate connecting expressions are used.

The following expressions can help:

- Ngan – and
- Pero – but
- O – or

- Samtang – while

Examples:

Nagbabasa ako ngan nagsusurat hiya.
I am reading, and he/she is writing.

Karuyag ko umupod, pero may buruhaton pa ako.
I want to join, but I still have something to do.

Nagluluto hi Nanay samtang naglilimpyo hi Tatay.
Mother is cooking while Father is cleaning.

Important: Connecting expressions should be selected according to the relationship between the ideas. Use ngan to add information, pero to show contrast, and o to present alternatives.

B. Adding Descriptive Details

A simple sentence can be expanded by including information about the subject, object, place, or activity.

Example:

Simple:
Matahom an lugar.
The place is beautiful.

Expanded:
Matahom ngan mahimyang an lugar nga amon ginkadtoan han bakasyon.
The place we visited during the vacation was beautiful and peaceful.

Another example:

Simple:
Buotan hiya.
He/She is kind.

Expanded:
Buotan ngan matinabangon hiya ha iya mga sangkay.
He/She is kind and helpful to his/her friends.

C. Expressing Conditions

Conditional sentences describe situations that depend on another event or action.

The expression kon can introduce a condition.

Examples:

Waray	English
Kon may panahon ako, magbabasa ako.	If I have time, I will read.
Kon mag-uran, diri kami makakadto.	If it rains, we cannot go.
Kon magpraktis ka, mag-uuswag an imo abilidad.	If you practice, your ability will improve.

The expression bisan kon can introduce a situation that does not prevent another action.

Examples:

Bisan kon makuri an leksyon, magpapadayon ako pag-aram.
Even if the lesson is difficult, I will continue studying.

Bisan kon malayo an eskwelahan, regular hiya nga naeskwela.
Even if the school is far away, he/she regularly attends school.

D. Showing Contrast Between Ideas

Sometimes, two ideas are related but express different or opposing information.

You can use:

- Pero – but
- Kondi – however / but
- Bisan pa – even so / although, depending on construction

Examples:

Gutiay an balay, pero dako an amon kalipay.
The house is small, but our happiness is great.

Kapoy hiya, kondi nagpapadayon hiya pagtrabaho.
He/She is tired; however, he/she continues working.

Damo an buruhaton, bisan pa hito, natapos namon an proyekto.
There was a lot of work; even so, we finished the project.

E. Organizing Multiple Sentences into a Paragraph

Advanced communication also requires organizing sentences so that they form a clear paragraph.

A paragraph should have a central idea supported by related information.

Example:

Waray:

Importante ha akon an pag-aram hin mga yinaknan. Nakakabulig ini ha pakigkomunikar ha iba nga mga tawo. Dugang pa, pinaagi hini, mas nakikilala naton an kultura han usa nga lugar. Pananglitan, pinaagi ha pag-aram hin Waray, mas nasasabtan naton an mga pulong ngan mga ekspresyon nga ginagamit han mga tawo ha Western Samar. Salit, karuyag ko nga padayon nga mag-aram ngan magpraktis.

English:

Learning languages is important to me. It helps with communicating with other people. In addition, through this, we become more familiar with the culture of a place. For example, by learning Waray, we better understand the words and expressions used by people in Western Samar. Therefore, I want to continue learning and practicing.

F. Improving Sentence Clarity

Long sentences should still be understandable. Adding too many unrelated ideas can make a sentence confusing.

Compare:

Less clear:

Nag-aadal ako ngan nagbabasa ako ngan nagluluto hi Nanay ngan may eksam kami buwas.

Clearer:

Nag-aadal ako ngan nagbabasa hin libro kay may eksam kami buwas. Samtang nag-aadal ako, nagluluto hi Nanay ha kusina.

The second version separates the ideas according to their relationship.

Remember:

- Keep related ideas together.
- Use appropriate connecting expressions.
- Avoid adding unnecessary information.
- Divide very long statements into shorter sentences when needed.

ADVANCED LEVEL

UNIT 2: LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT

LESSON 25: VERB FORMS AND TENSES

Estimated Duration: 50–60 minutes
Prerequisite: Lesson 24 – Advanced Sentence Construction
Language Focus: Verb forms, completed actions, ongoing actions, intended or future actions, time expressions, and verb usage in different contexts.

I. LESSON INFORMATION

Verbs are important parts of a sentence because they communicate actions, activities, and events. They help listeners understand what someone does, what someone is doing, and what someone intends to do.

In Waray, verbs may change their forms depending on the action being described, the grammatical construction, and the context of the sentence.

For example, consider these expressions:

- Nagbabasa ako. – I am reading.
- Nagbasa ako. – I read.
- Magbabasa ako. – I will read.

These examples demonstrate how changes in verb forms can communicate different time references or aspects of an action.

In this lesson, learners will practice recognizing and using common Waray verb patterns to describe past, present, and future situations.

II. LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the end of this lesson, learners should be able to:

1. Identify common Waray verbs and their corresponding root forms.
2. Recognize verb forms used to describe completed actions.
3. Recognize verb forms used to describe ongoing activities.
4. Use appropriate verb forms when expressing intended or future actions.

5. Identify time expressions that provide context for an action.
6. Construct sentences using appropriate verb forms in different situations.

III. LESSON INTRODUCTION

Consider the following examples:

Waray	English
Nagbabasa ako.	I am reading.
Nagbasa ako kahapon.	I read yesterday.
Magbabasa ako buwas.	I will read tomorrow.

The sentences use the same general action—reading—but communicate different time references.

Notice the changes:

- Nagbabasa describes an ongoing activity.
- Nagbasa describes a completed action.
- Magbabasa describes an intended or future action.

Time expressions such as kahapon (yesterday), yana (today/now), and buwas (tomorrow) also help establish when an action happens.

Understanding these patterns will help learners communicate their daily activities, experiences, and plans more accurately.

VI. LESSON PROPER

A. Understanding Verb Root Words

A root word is the basic form from which related words or verb forms may be constructed.

Examples:

Root or Base Form	English
Basa	Read
Surat	Write
Adal	Study

Luto	Cook
Trabaho	Work
Limpyo	Clean
Lakat	Walk
Uyag	Play
Turog	Sleep
Pahuway	Rest

In Waray, different verb constructions can be formed using these roots.

For example:

Waray	English
Magbasa	To read
Nagbabasa	Reading / Is reading
Nagbasa	Read / Studied

Magbabasa	Will read

The changes in the beginning and internal parts of a verb can communicate different grammatical meanings.

Important: Not all Waray verbs follow one identical pattern. Some verbs use different constructions, and their forms should be learned through examples and actual usage.

B. Completed Actions

Completed actions refer to activities or events that have already happened.

Time expressions such as kahapon, kagab-i, and kanina can help identify when an action was completed.

Examples:

Waray	English
Nagbasa ako kahapon.	I read yesterday.
Nagluto hi Nanay kagab-i.	Mother cooked last night.
Naglimpyo kami han balay.	We cleaned the house.
Nag-aram hiya para ha eksam.	He/She studied for the examination.

Pattern to Observe:

Completed verb form + subject + additional information.

Example:

Nagbasa + ako + hin libro kahapon.

Read + I + a book yesterday.

C. Ongoing Actions

Ongoing actions describe activities that are happening at the time of speaking or continuing during a particular period.

Examples:

Waray	English
Nagbabasa ako yana.	I am reading now.
Nagluluto hi Nanay.	Mother is cooking.
Nag-aadal hira ha library.	They are studying in the library.
Nagsusurat hiya hin surat.	He/She is writing a letter.

Pattern to Observe:

Ongoing verb form + subject + additional information.

Example:

Nagbabasa + ako + hin libro yana.

Am reading + I + a book now.

D. Intended and Future Actions

Future or intended actions describe activities that have not happened yet but are expected, planned, or intended to happen.

Examples:

Waray	English

Magbabasa ako buwas.	I will read tomorrow.
Magluluto hi Nanay yana nga gab-i.	Mother will cook tonight.
Mag-aadal kami para ha eksam.	We will study for the examination.
Magsusurat hiya hin surat.	He/She will write a letter.

Time expressions such as buwas, sunod nga semana, and yana nga gab-i can provide additional context.

Pattern to Observe:

Future or intended verb form + subject + additional information.

Example:

Magbabasa + ako + buwas.

LESSON 26: IDIOMATIC EXPRESSIONS AND COMMON SAYINGS

Level: Advanced
Unit: Unit 2 – Language Development
Duration: 45–60 minutes
Prerequisite: Lessons 21–25
Language Variety: Contemporary Waray spoken in Western Samar

I. Learning Objectives

At the end of this lesson, learners should be able to:

1. Identify expressions whose meanings may differ from their literal meanings.
2. Understand the meaning of selected Waray expressions based on context.
3. Distinguish literal expressions from figurative expressions.
4. Use appropriate expressions when communicating feelings, attitudes, and opinions.
5. Interpret common sayings without translating them word for word.
6. Recognize that expressions may vary depending on the speaker, community, and situation.

II. Lesson Introduction

People do not always communicate using literal meanings. In everyday conversations, they may use expressions that describe feelings, attitudes, experiences, or situations indirectly.

These expressions are often called idioms or figurative expressions. Their meanings cannot always be understood by translating each word separately.

For example, in English, the expression “a heavy heart” does not refer to the physical weight of a person's heart. It describes sadness or emotional difficulty.

Waray speakers also use expressions that communicate ideas beyond their literal meanings. Some expressions may be familiar across Western Samar, while others may be more common in particular communities or among certain generations.

In this lesson, learners will explore selected expressions and practice understanding them through context. The examples are learning candidates and should be checked by a Western Samar Waray language evaluator before being finalized in the application.

III. Vocabulary

English	Waray	Pronunciation Guide
Idiom	Idiom / pananglitan nga diri literal an kahulogan	I-di-yom
Expression	Ekspresyon	Eks-pres-yon
Saying	Panultihon	Pa-nul-ti-hon
Meaning	Kahulogan	Ka-hu-lo-gan
Literal meaning	Literal nga kahulogan	Li-te-ral nga ka-hu-lo-gan
Figurative meaning	Diri literal nga kahulogan	Di-ri li-te-ral nga ka-hu-lo-gan
Context	Konteksto	Kon-tek-sto
Feeling	Pagbati	Pag-ba-ti
Attitude	Pamatasan / batasan	Pa-ma-ta-san
Experience	Eksperyensya	Eks-per-yen-sya
Kind-hearted	Maupay an buot	Ma-u-pay an bu-ot

Courageous / Strong-willed	Marig-on an buot	Ma-ri-gon an bu-ot
Discouraged	Maluya an buot	Ma-lu-ya an bu-ot
Patient	Mapailubon	Ma-pa-i-lu-bon
Thoughtful	Mahunahunaon	Ma-hu-na-hu-na-on

Note: The vocabulary includes descriptive expressions as well as terminology used to discuss figurative language. Some expressions may have different preferred forms in different Western Samar communities.

IV. Understanding Idiomatic Expressions

An idiom is a group of words that communicates a meaning different from the direct meaning of its individual words.

For example:

- English: “He has a big heart.”
- Meaning: He is kind and generous.
- The expression does not describe the physical size of his heart.

In Waray, expressions describing a person's buot may communicate something about their attitude, character, or disposition.

Consider these candidate expressions:

Waray Expression	Possible English Meaning	Explanation
Maupay an buot	Kind-hearted	Describes someone who treats others well.

Marig-on an buot	Strong-willed	Describes someone who remains determined.
Maluya an buot	Discouraged or lacking confidence	May describe someone who feels emotionally weak or discouraged.
Mapailubon	Patient	Describes someone who can tolerate difficulties without easily becoming upset.

These examples should not automatically be treated as fixed idioms. Some are descriptive expressions whose meanings depend on context.

Literal and Figurative Meanings

Compare the following:

Example A: Literal Meaning

- Waray: Dako an balay.
- English: The house is big.
- Explanation: The statement describes the actual size of a house.

Example B: Figurative Description

- Waray: Maupay an iya buot.
- English: He/She is kind-hearted.
- Explanation: The expression describes the person's character rather than a physical object.

Understanding the surrounding conversation helps learners identify the intended meaning.

V. Selected Expressions and Their Uses

The following examples introduce useful expressions for describing people and situations.

Waray Expression	English Meaning	Example Situation

Informal communication is commonly used when talking with friends, classmates, and familiar colleagues.

- English: How are you? Have you finished the project?

More formal or respectful communication is appropriate when addressing teachers, supervisors, or people who are not personally familiar.

Example:

- Waray: Maupay nga aga. Pwede ba ako magpakiana mahitungod han amon asaynment?

Waray does not always require a completely different sentence structure for formal communication. Respect can also be communicated through greetings, word choice, tone, and the way a request is delivered.

LESSON 28: STORYTELLING AND NARRATION

Prerequisite: Lessons 21–27
Language Variety: Contemporary Waray spoken in Western Samar

I. Learning Objectives

At the end of this lesson, learners should be able to:

1. Identify vocabulary and expressions commonly used in storytelling and narration.
2. Narrate personal experiences and past events in Waray.
3. Arrange events in a logical and chronological sequence.
4. Use appropriate connecting words to link events and ideas.
5. Describe characters, settings, and actions in a short narrative.
6. Retell a short story while maintaining its main ideas and sequence of events.

II. Lesson Introduction

Storytelling is one of the ways people share experiences, preserve memories, and communicate ideas. People tell stories about their childhood, family, travels, school experiences, community events, and everyday activities.

A good narrative usually contains a beginning, a series of events, and an ending. It may also include descriptions of the people involved, the place where events happened, and the feelings or lessons connected to the experience.

In this lesson, learners will practice narrating events in Waray. They will learn expressions for introducing a story, describing what happened, connecting events, and explaining how a situation ended.

The lesson will also help learners distinguish between describing an ongoing action and narrating an event that has already happened.

V. Lesson Proper

A. Understanding the Situation Before Responding

Before answering someone, learners should identify the situation and understand what information is needed.

Consider these examples:

Situation	Communication Goal	Appropriate Response
Asking for directions	Find a location	Hain an terminal?
Asking about transportation	Confirm a destination	Makadto ba ini ha sentro han bungto?
Requesting emergency assistance	Explain a problem	Kinahanglan ko hin bulig.
Meeting someone new	Introduce yourself	Nalilipay ako nga makilala ka.
Joining a community activity	Ask about participation	Karuyag ko ba umupod ha iyo?

The same expression may not be appropriate in every situation. Learners should consider the person they are speaking to, the urgency of the situation, and the information they need.

B. Asking Follow-Up Questions

A conversation often requires more than one question. Asking follow-up questions helps learners obtain complete information.

Example: Asking About Transportation

- Hain an terminal?
- Where is the terminal?
- Pira an plete?
- How much is the fare?
- San-o maabot an salakyan?
- When will the vehicle arrive?
- Makadto ba ini ha sentro han bungto?
- Does this go to the town center?

C. Responding to Unexpected Situations

Learners should know how to communicate clearly when something unexpected happens.

Example: Reporting a Lost Belonging

- Waray: Nawara an akon bag.
- English: My bag is missing.
- Waray: Hain ko ini mahimo ireport?
- English: Where can I report this?
- Waray: May sulod ito nga importante nga mga dokumento.
- English: It contains important documents.

Example: Asking for Emergency Assistance

- Waray: Kinahanglan namon hin bulig. May usa nga nasamaran.
- English: We need help. Someone has been injured.
- Waray: Hain an pinakahirani nga ospital?
- English: Where is the nearest hospital?

In an actual emergency, learners should prioritize contacting appropriate emergency services or nearby authorities. Language exercises are not a substitute for emergency procedures.

D. Maintaining a Conversation

A successful conversation involves listening, responding, and asking relevant follow-up questions.

Useful expressions include:

- Oo, nasasabtan ko.
- Yes, I understand.
- Diri ko nasasabtan.
- I do not understand.
- Mahimo mo ba utrahon?
- Can you repeat that?
- Salamat ha impormasyon.
- Thank you for the information.
- Sige, maupod ako.
- All right, I will come along.

3. Facial-expression recognition must not determine whether a learner understands Waray.
4. The system must not treat detected facial movements as definitive evidence of emotion, confidence, interest, or comprehension.
5. Facial-expression results must not affect assessment scores, XP, badges, or course completion.
6. The feature must be presented as supplementary interaction rather than a language-proficiency measurement.
